

Our Clients:

All levels of government, private sector, and not-for-profit entities who are committed to preserving lives, property, and financial resources in the face of natural, technological, or human-caused disaster.

Features and Benefits:

Emergency Preparedness Solutions is a woman owned small business enterprise providing a full range of comprehensive emergency and disaster preparedness services for clients in the areas of planning, training, and exercising.

Planning:

- Threat and Hazard Identification and Risk Assessment (THIRA)
- Comprehensive Emergency Management Plans (CEMPs)
 - Including Functional and Hazard-Specific Annexes
- Continuity of Operations Plans (COOP)
 - Business Continuity
 - Continuity of Government

All planning activities are conducted using prescribed processes and national/industry standards such as CPG-101, CPG-201, NFPA 1600, and applicable state laws. The plans prepared are fully customized to address the needs of each client.

Having current plans, written to applicable standards, is often required for grant funding, accreditation, and other needs. It is also a critical element in saving lives, preserving property, and minimizing financial losses.

Training:

- National Incident Management System (NIMS) Incident Command System (ICS) national training curriculum
 - I-100, I-200, I-300, I-400, and Executive Briefings
- Customized Emergency Operations Center (EOC) training courses
- Training and seminars on continuity of operations planning.
- Exercise training courses – learn how to design, evaluate, and conduct your own table top, functional, or full scale exercises
- Professional development courses in leadership, communications, and volunteer management
- Personalized training courses can be developed by our curriculum design experts to meet the specific and unique needs of our clients.

Training in NIMS-related courses is a Federal mandate for any entity involved in emergency management and public safety – including the private sector.

Exercises:

We offer a full array of Homeland Security Exercise and Evaluation Program (HSEEP)-compliant exercise programs including seminars, workshops, table-tops, games, drills, functional, and full-scale exercises. Additionally, we conduct training and exercise planning workshops (TEPWS), write after action reports (AARs) for both exercises and real-world events, and formulate corrective action plans (CAPs) to help clients improve capabilities.

An HSEEP-compliant exercise program is required by many emergency management and homeland security grants.

Customized Solutions:

Emergency Preparedness Solutions can provide expert executive consultation services for emergency preparedness including one-on-one consultation, facilitation of groups, and presentations to small and large audiences alike.

For all of our activities, EPS takes a NEEDS BASED APPROACH, meaning that we work with clients to identify and address their own specific needs, resulting in maximization of time, effort, and funding for stakeholders. EPS will accomplish needs assessments through a variety of means including interviews, document review, and surveys.

Many competing firms use a cookie-cutter approach, matching similar products and services across the board to multiple clients. While this saves the consultant time, it results as a failure to the client as their unique needs are not identified and addressed. Our greatest concern is meeting the needs of our clients with quality services.

Emergency Preparedness Solutions, where possible, will provide the client with multiple options to select from. These options will offer a variety of values, all based upon identified needs, and subject to the choice of the client. Each option will exercise specified methodologies to accomplish various objectives.

Guarantee:

Emergency Preparedness Solutions fully guarantees the quality of its work.
